

ITEM — SHUFFLED TIME

5.–11. July 2026 · RAA.SPACE, Matīsa iela 8, Rīga

Presented to Benjamiņu Nams

About the Event

ITEM—Shuffled Time is a seven-day performative week at RAA.SPACE in Rīga. Each day one artist or artist group occupies RAA's main hall — a 138m² space with ten windows facing Matīsa iela — for a 24-hour period to Invoke, Temper, Elate, Mint the space. Performances may span the full 24 hours or take place over a shorter duration with one or more openings. The programme brings together seven distinct artistic voices across durational performance, body art, experimental poetry, aromagraphy and interactive installation. Organised by RAA and supported by Veldze Radošā Rūpnīca.

Why It Matters

Live and durational performance is raw and unrepeatable. ITEM places Benjamiņu Nams within RAA.SPACE — a space with an established programme of performance and visual art since its founding, with collaborations including Homo Novus, Kefirs Studio, 2 Annas, Alīna Burlakova, Andrejs Osokins and many more. Sponsorship here is a genuine cultural investment, seen and felt by an engaged, arts-literate audience.

Words to Change the World

Ilze Aulmane

30 minutes. The three words of the title are an invitation to question, challenge, and reflect. Do we need, want, or have the power to change the world? And are there words capable of doing so? During the performance, Ilze Aulmane will create a space for this invitation through breath, sound, letters, syllables, unfamiliar words, and performative objects.

Bio: Ilze Aulmane is a cross-disciplinary artist working across installation, photography, painting, sound, performance and moving image. She has developed her own experimental vocal technique and employs the logic of perpetual adolescence in her practice. Aulmane holds a BA and MA from the Art Academy of Latvia and graduated from the Royal Academy Schools, London, in 2024.

NOW

Maruta Gredzena

In her interactive performance Now, Maruta Gredzena explores whether communication without words can be true. Visitors become participants, choosing and wearing light, paper-based wearable sculptures in response to their present state — soft, fluffy, geometric, or rock-like forms creating a temporary second skin. Each choice reshapes a shifting collective composition where everyone becomes both observer and artwork. The work asks: can honesty exist without language? A paper sculpture installation with objects and strips descending from the ceiling provides the spatial backdrop.

Bio: Maruta Gredzena is interested in what happens when nothing stays still. A life shaped by continual relocation has shifted her practice from making objects to creating spaces for interaction. Rooted in porcelain and ceramic sculpture and expanded through graphic art, her work unfolds through installations that use paper, material, and playfulness to explore communication beyond language. N.3

Ernests Ā

The binding conviction in the existence of two opposites always makes one wander in confusion.

Ernests arrives with a rope, initially wrapping it around one of the gallery's columns. He ties the end to his leg and walks around the column in widening circles — both within and beyond the gallery walls — attempting to distance himself from constraint until physical exhaustion or external factors intervene. Should he break free, he may wrap the rope once again. Brief rests do not interrupt the piece. He remains silent throughout. Intended duration: 18:00 – open end.

Bio: In his practice, Ernests Ā devotes himself to playful exploration of the mundane and undefinable aspects of reality within unrestricted forms of expression.

Gluttony

Kristiāna Šuksta & Sandris Murins

An experimental aromagraphy performance pairing twelve words — each coupled with a distinct aroma — performed in continuously reshuffled sequences and tempos. Through congruent and incongruent combinations of language and scent, Gluttony reveals how olfactory experience can reinforce, contradict or transform the meaning of text — exploring desire, memory and the sensory dimensions of meat consumption. Meaning emerges through ever-changing temporal configurations rather than a fixed sequence.

Bio: Sandris Murins is a Latvian artist, inventor of the Scent Camera, and founder of the Scent + Art Festival — promoting aromagraphy as an emerging artistic language. Kristiāna Šuksta is a Latvian poet, performance artist and technical producer of the festival Starptelpa. Her practice combines poetry and live performance to explore personal experience and human relationships through wit and humour.

Presence in Absence, Piece Three

Lisette Ros (Dutch)

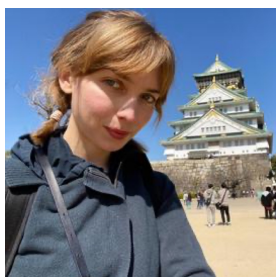

Presence in Absence is a series by Lisette Ros begun in Mexico City in 2023, examining the perceptible act of presence in absence through The Absent Body. In Piece Three, Ros grapples with her own presence by taking in a natural hypnotic — a substance that has formed part of her nightly ritual since 2014, when she was diagnosed with DSPS (Delayed Sleep Phase Syndrome). The work manipulates control and consciousness in real time, before the audience.

Bio: Lisette Ros (b. 1991, NL) is a Dutch conceptual and performance artist with Indonesian roots. Her work investigates identity as a construct formed through social systems and embodied experience, using the body as research tool and medium. Presented internationally at the Venice Architecture Biennale, SXSW, Van Abbemuseum, Goethe Institute, MWood Beijing, Casa Lü CDMX. 2021 residency with Marina Abramović.

Time Scores

Vanessa Brzić (Croatian)

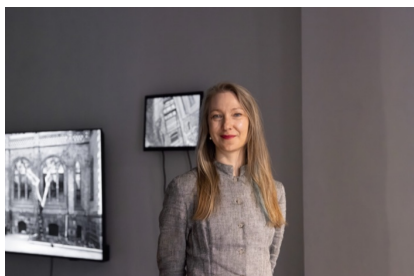

Audience members draw cards with short instructions — such as “cut”, “tie”, “spill”, “listen” — and carry them out in the space using various objects. Each action changes the room for the next one, so the same card means something different every time it is drawn. The room becomes a record of everything that has happened inside it.

Bio: Vanessa Brzić is a cross-disciplinary artist and OIST QISS Fellow working at the intersection of fundamental research, quantum information and artistic practice. Details being confirmed.

Laiks Telpā

Ilze Mazpane & Jana Zariņa

A durational performance that, using only objects found on site within RAA's existing space, creates a musical-bodily-spatial experience of subjective time. The work explores how time expands, contracts, rushes, stops and disappears — without clock-time as guide or constraint.

Bio: Ilze Mazpane is a performance artist from Rīga with a background in philosophy, visual art, experimental theatre and creative writing. She creates site-specific durational works marked by poetic sensibility and a sensitive relationship with space. Jana Zariņa is primarily a historical keyboard and sound artist whose work spans early music, improvisation, electro-acoustic performance and interdisciplinary arts. Key projects include the electro-acoustic duo maiak, the contemporary Latvian opera Ticks (2024, Rīga Zoo) and international baroque performances. She has performed with the Latvian National Symphony Orchestra.
